

Marienberg's Extruded Mesh Rolls are an excellent solution for the packing and distribution of products in supermarkets, warehouses or retail shops. They will improve presentation, ease product handling and increase the added value of the items during fruits and vegetables sales, offers or global product sales. The length and capacity of the Extruded Mesh Rolls can vary. They are ready to cut and seal, so they can easily adapt to the clients' specific needs.

General Characteristics

- Made of high-density polyethylene (HDPE).
- Can be reused and are easy to clean and sanitize.
- UV resistant.
- Light and affordable.
- Versatile. Shape adapts to the content.
- Easy to store.

Main Uses

Our Extruded Mesh Rolls allow you to pack bulky products with a small progressive weight gain. The size of the packaging can be increased depending on the situation. These rolls can also be used to store shellfish farming industry products as mussels or scallops, among others.
